In July of 2008, five [5] staff employees were "sworn-in" by Louisville Metro Government per KRS 95.160. These staff officers have law enforcement authority on the campus and property of the President's home only.

Describe the working relationship of campus security authority personnel with state and local police agencies:

Campus Safety and Security has an outstanding working relationship with local authorities. This would include Louisville Metro Police, Louisville Fire Department, State Fire Marshal and other government agencies. Currently certified instructors from Metro Police train staff employees in numerous areas.

Section 2: Description of Information Programs

Describe programs that inform students and employees about:

(a) Campus safety and security

Southern Seminary has developed policies and procedures, offers educational programs and cooperates with local law enforcement agencies to enhance the safety and security of its students, employees, staff and guests. Southern Seminary recognizes shared responsibility for the welfare of the community. Additional information on security and safety policies can be found in the Student Handbook, by calling the Department of Safety and Security at Extension # 4444, from the Emergency Operations Manual or visiting the Southern Baptist Theological Seminary Website under Campus Life/Security. www.sbts.edu/security

The Department of Safety and Security offers numerous safety programs on campus. These include fire prevention and defensive driving, CPR/1st Aid/AED training, new student orientation, crime prevention, fire drills and training to student leaders. Training is also provided as it relates to emergency messaging and notifications in the event of major crimes or other incidents. In 2008, new LED signage was installed in all classrooms as part of our emergency broadcast systems.

(b) How to report a crime:

Students and staff are advised to report criminal activity, threatening or suspicious activity, any injury or serious illness, by promptly calling the Department of Safety and Security at Extension # 4444. The Department of Safety and Security has security officers, supervisors and dispatchers working 24 hours a day, 7 days a week. They are trained in how to handle emergency calls for service. Dispatchers have constant communications with officers that patrol the seminary, via portable radios. Members of the seminary community have the option to call 911 at any time there is an emergency situation requiring the response of police, fire, or EMS. Other members of the seminary community need to dial 9-911 to reach the same emergency personnel. Dispatchers and officers have been trained to keep the person on the line, as well as contacting 911 for the appropriate emergency personnel, if/when they receive an emergency call for assistance.

Students and employees are instructed in handbooks and by viewing security's website (www.sbts.edu/security) on how to report crimes to the Campus Safety and Security. They also have the option of contacting local law enforcement.

All accidents and injuries involving students, guests, staff and/or employees should be reported to Campus Safety and Security as soon as possible. All efforts will be made to have the appropriate officials to handle any and all situations. Investigations are conducted to help in determining if a situation could pose a threat of injury or illness to others. Then the seminary is aware of a potential hazard, officials take appropriate steps to warn the campus community. Any criminal activity occurring on seminary property must be reported to the Department of Safety and Security. Reports are evaluated for follow-up investigations by supervisors within the Department of Safety and Security. The Director of Safety and Security, or other appropriate supervisors make determinations; if/when the need arises to contact the appropriate law enforcement agency for assistance. Students, staff and/or employees of course, have the option of reporting crimes directly to the Louisville Metro Police at 574-7111.

(c) How to prevent crimes:

Students, staff and employees are given information related to safety and security by many different forms. All seminary members are advised to contact the Department of Safety and Security at Extension # 4444 if they become aware of any safety or security issue to themselves or others. When seminary personnel are aware of any potential hazard or safety issue, appropriate steps are taken to provide timely warnings, or to prevent such activity. The Facilities Department works in conjunction with the Department of Safety and Security in an effort to correct any security or safety hazard in our buildings or on seminary grounds.

All buildings on seminary property are cleared and/or locked at regularly scheduled times by security personnel. A security officer upon receiving proper identification and/or authorization may provide supervised access to buildings after hours. Residence halls (female) are locked at certain times nightly. Residents must use their keys after this time. Security officers patrol residence halls and are very diligent in checking for open doors or any other means by which a perpetrator might gain access.

While Southern Seminary respects the personal privacy of the students in their residence hall rooms, provisions are made for seminary staff to enter rooms if needed or if a danger is present. Under certain conditions a search might be authorized if prohibited items are said to be found in residence halls. Night-lights, exit signs, smoke detectors and door panic bars are present in residence halls and checked regularly.

The following is given to student and employees as a checklist of safety and crime prevention reminders:
