

Hebrew Prose Seminar

Dr Russell Fuller

Norton 172, Ext 4138, Box 1813, rf Fuller@sbts.edu

Course Description:

Readings in Hebrew Prose from biblical (and some non-biblical) prose. Hebrew phonology, morphology, and syntax will be emphasized along with exegetical and text-critical issues.

Required Textbooks

W Gensenius, Kautzsch, and Cowley, Gensenius' Hebrew Grammar (Oxford:Blackwell, second edition).

Jouon and Muraoka, A Grammar of Biblical Hebrew (Subsidia Biblica, 14; 2 Vols.; Rome: Pontifical Biblical Institute).

Course Objectives:

- 1 To develop skills in Hebrew phonology, morphology, and syntax.
- 2 To develop skills in biblical exegesis
- 3 To develop translation technique and theory

Course Requirements:

- 1 Weekly preparation of selected texts
- 2 Mid-Term Exam
- 3 Final Exam
- 4 Term paper on a related issue covered in the class
- 5 Attendance

Students with special needs or disabilities should contact the professor as soon as possible to discuss these issues. All papers should be written in accordance with the Seminary Manual of Style.